

Virtual Lending Kit Agreement

The Sugar Museum has developed virtual educational kits filled with learning materials, crafts, and games that teach children about Maui's sugar plantation heritage.

To make your virtual field trip as productive and enjoyable as possible, discuss the following topics with your students before requesting a kit.

Bring a signed copy of this agreement with you when you pick up your kit, or email a signed copy to education@sugarmuseum.com

We, the students of _____ (Name of teacher/group leader)

at _____
(Name of school/group/organization)

Understand the Sugar Museum is allowing us to borrow materials and items so we can learn about sugar plantation life on Maui. The Museum works hard to bring this program to us. We agree to the following:

We will:

- Handle the educational materials with respect, so that others will be able to use them after we have returned them.
- Wait for instructions from our teacher or leader before starting the activities.
- Make sure all materials and items that do not belong to us will be returned in the same condition as they were given to us.

I have read this agreement to my students/group, and accept responsibility for any items that are misplaced or damaged beyond repair. I understand my school/group/organization may be asked to reimburse the Museum for the cost of any damaged or replacement of missing items.
